For a Special Occasion

The tradition of uncorking or "beheading" the champagne bottles with a sabre designed for such a purpose, has arrived to our table. During the time of Napoleon, the Hussards military body celebrated their victories by uncorking champagne bottles with a sabre. This tradition has become a spectacular ceremony for uncorking champagne bottles. Sliding the sabre along the bottle and with a sharp hit on the base of the neck we can uncork a bottle without breaking it.

Una gran tradición para una ocasión especial

La tradición de descorchar o "decapitar" las botellas de cava con un sable diseñado para tal fin a llegado a nuestras mesas. En la época de Napoleón el cuerpo militar de Húsares celebraba sus victorias descorchando botellas de champagne con un golpe de sable. Esta tradición se ha convertido en una ceremonia espectacular para descorchar botellas de cava. Deslizando el sable por la botella y con un golpe seco en la base del gollete podemos descorchar una botella por el cristal sin romperla.
