Histoire d'une marque icône

Tout commence en 1958, lorsque Jean Bousquet, originaire de Nîmes et titulaire d'un CAP de tailleur, monte à Paris pour créer une affaire artisanale de pantalons pour femmes.

Le 16 mars 1962, il dépose la marque « Jean Cacharel », et obtient dès l'année suivante, le 8 novembre 1963, son premier succès grâce au désormais célèbre chemisier en crépon rose photographié par Peter Knapp, en couverture du magazine ELLE, et aussitôt surnommé « Le Cacharel ».

Les stylistes Emmanuelle Khan puis Corinne Sarrut sont très vite engagées pour dessiner les collections. En 1968, Sarah Moon, jeune photographe inconnue à l'époque, rencontre Jean Bousquet. C'est le début d'une collaboration heureuse, enrichie par l'arrivée du publicitaire Robert Delpire.

A eux quatre ils donnent naissance à l'univers de Cacharel : un univers romantique, immortalisé à jamais par des images inoubliables, envoûtantes, rêveuses et poétiques.

A la fin des années 60 éclosent les premiers chemisiers Liberty. Cacharel est désormais devenue une marque florissante, une référence de mode, dont les robes Liberty explosent avec la génération des 70's.

Après avoir lancé ses premières collections Femme, Homme, et Enfant, et obtenu l'oscar de l'exportation en 1969, Jean Bousquet diversifie ses activités. Il lance le parfum Anaïs Anaïs, encore à ce jour l'un des premiers parfums mondiaux, puis Loulou, Noa, Amor Amor et le tout dernier né Scarlett.

D'autres produits sous la marque sont lancés parallèlement : lunettes, lingerie, papeterie, maillots de bain, etc.

Au début des années 2000, Cacharel entreprend une profonde mutation pour retrouver l'énergie créative de ses débuts et s'adjoint le talent des designers Clements-Ribeiro. Cacharel défile de nouveau dans le cadre de la semaine de la mode parisienne et renoue avec son succès de jadis.

Aujourd'hui, le belge Cédric Charlier, formé auprès des plus grandes Maisons de Couture parisiennes, a repris avec succès la direction artistique de la griffe dès sa première collection Printemps/été 2010, présentée au Palais de Tokyo.

La profession et la presse sont enthousiastes... L'essai est confirmé avec l'automne/hiver 2010, présenté face à une salle comble place Vendôme.

History of an iconic brand

Everything started in 1958 when Jean BOUSQUET, holder of a tailoring qualification, decided to «go up» to Paris from Nîmes to design his first creations in a tiny studio. The resounding success of his very first collections prompted him to found the small company «CACHAREL», named after a bird of the Camargue.

Then the situation developed apace. The famous «boom» of the seersucker shirt, featured on the cover of Elle magazine in November 8th 1963, introduced Cacharel into store windows all over the world. The blossom of Liberty shirts and dresses at the end of the 60's makes of Cacharel a reference of the 70's mood.

Having launched his first Menswear, Womenswear and Childrenswear collection, and having been awarded the Oscar for exports in 1969, he went on to diversify his activities by branching out into perfumery (Anaïs Anaïs still today one of the world's best-selling fragrances) and other products, which he has manufactured under his brand name: eyewear, lingerie, stationery, swimwear, etc.

At the beginning of the 2000's Cacharel embarks on a radical overhaul to rekindle the creative energy that marked the company's beginnings and hires the talented Clements-Ribeiro team. Cacharel parades again during Paris Fashion Week runways and enjoys renewed success.

Today Cédric Charlier, trained in the leading Paris couture houses, has taken over Cacharel Artistic Direction to go on reinterpreting as well as updating Cacharel fundamentals. The profession and the press are enthusiastic from his very first collection Cacharel for the Spring/summer 2010, presented at the Palais de Tokyo. His second show place Vendôme confirms the pertinence of his view of the brand.
