2011

Living.
At home.

Elegant and decorative things for your home.

I feel at home in my own four walls.
On my own couch I can recharge my batteries and in my own kitchen feast in the lap of luxury.
And a bath for all senses takes places
in the in-house oasis of well-being.
Finally I have time to think of just me
I feel at home in my own four walls.

Time.
Tool.

Modern and convenient helper.

In the morning my alarm
clock wakes me up.
And the thermometer tells me whether it is time for a sweater or T-shirt.
It's off to work. Working off tasks and deadlines.
The day ends with my favourite song on the radio.
Thanks to a good time management
my world keeps on time.

Office. Experience.

Trends for office and business

The average person spends half of their life working.
I create my working space as comfortable as possible, so that I can be creative.
My desk is a space for work and well-being.
With the right mouse clicks I reach my goal
and nice pens write success stories.
This is what my office looks like at its best.

Good for the joints

Travel. Companion.

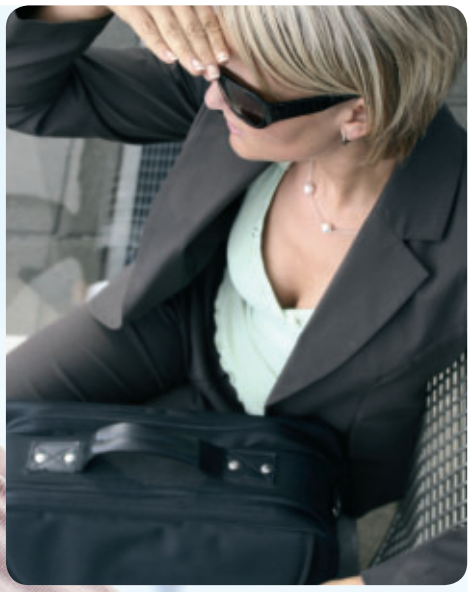

Reliable travel companions for each occasion.

There is nothing like travelling.
When I travel I like to take my favourite things along.
Bobble cap or bikini?
World trip or weekend trip?
Business or beach vacation?
Do I take a bag or a trolley?
However I decide, the journey is the reward.

sustainable

NEW

The sustainability principle contains that todays resources are only used up as far as the crop can be naturally regenerated - without putting future generations at risk. The teddy is made out of a bamboo-cotton mixture. Both plants regrow quickly.

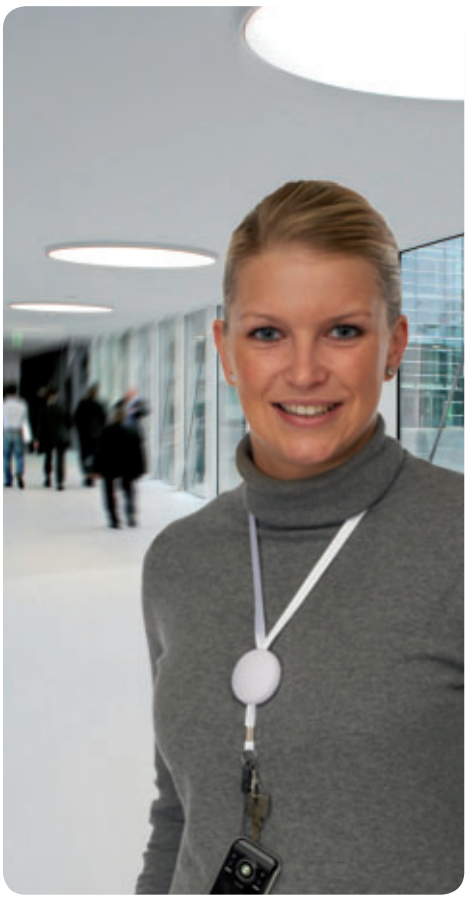

Key.
Solution.

Little things to make life easier.

Once the key is gone, it gets expensive.
Key and money – those are things we don't like to loose.
I cling to my bunch of keys. Thus, my key ring is hardly to be overlooked.
And my money is safely
kept in my wallet.
Sometimes little things just make life easier.

Silkscreen print | Textile printing

Silkscreen printing is a procedure in which paint is pushed through a screen with a scraper. A photochemical process lets the screen become non-permeable in certain areas to guarantee the desired effect. When using coloured logos it is wise to add a white base coat to ensure brilliant colours. This method can only be done on a flat surface or on anything that can be spread out horizontally such as textiles or segments of umbrellas.

Tampon print

A template of the logo is made and filled with the desired colour of ink. Once this is done the template is transfered onto the article with a silicone pad. These pads come in a variety of shapes and sizes which ensures a transfer onto nearly every surface, including uneven surfaces.

Laser engraving

A method using a laser beam to engrave a logo into nearly any material. A computer controlled process ensures a pinpoint reproduction. The final result is always dependant on the material surface. A colour is not possible.

Embroidery

A digitally controlled process in which a computer steers a needle and thread to embroider a surface. As many as 10 colours can be used in one embroidery procedure. This robust form of refinement can be used on all textiles. The logo must be provided in order to perform a cost calculation where the number of stiches are used.

Embossing

A stamp is used to press a logo into the surface of an article. By using a coloured foil it is possible to make coloured imprints. This technique is mostly used on leather and synthetic leather products.

Transfer print

The logo is printed on thermal paper and is then transmitted onto the article by ironing. Advantage: The logo is sharp and the colours will not run. This method is perfect for textiles and umbrellas.

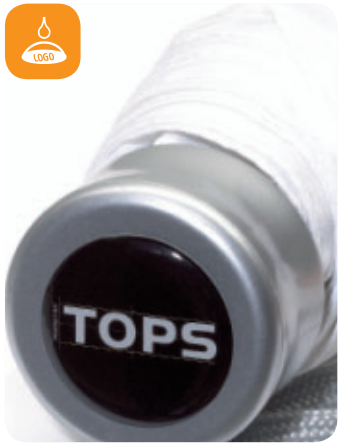

Etching

An electrolytic process - A piece of felt is soaked in corrosive liquid and is pressed through a stencil onto the product. Once the liquid comes into contact with the article the desired imprint is etched into the surface. The advantage is that the imprint is very robust.

Doming

The doming sticker is made of synthetic resin and a sticker with a company logo. The clear resin is fitted precisely to the logo print, protects the print and gives the logo a 3D effect. The convex sticker is perfect for advertising on rough or hard materials, such as umbrella knobs.
